To Whom It May Concern:

Constantine Construction recently completed work on an expansion project for our offices at One South Street. The project was overseen by Scott Albright, with Allen Corbin serving as the on-site project manager. Our project took approximately four months to complete, and it should be noted that during that time I found Scott, Allen, and their entire team incredibly easy to work with and very accommodating of our various requests.

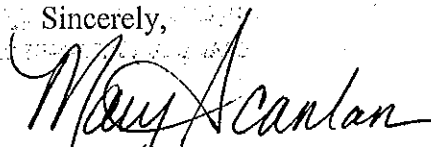

Scott lead a weekly progress meeting that helped keep everyone on the same page as well as informed of how the project was moving along. He was prompt in his response to my questions and he was very willing to offer advice when asked. I found him completely professional and very reliable.

Allen attended the weekly progress meetings and was my on-site point person for all work on the project. Allen is a very polite and thoughtful person, always responding quickly and efficiently to my calls. Moreover, Allen treated his crew with respect and ensured that all work was completed in a timely manner. Although Allen had several jobs he was overseeing in the building, he somehow managed to find time to address my questions or concerns.

I would also like to commend Vic, Don, and Chris of Constantine Construction who went above and beyond in their daily work. It was a pleasure working with them!

Please know that if QuestMark Partners is ever in need of construction work in the future, Constantine would be the first call we would make. Thank you for your service.

Sincerely,

Mary Scanlan
Office Administrator
